Celebrating Senior's Week

Good food and good company were part of the highlights of our Penshurst Senior Citizens' Morning Tea celebration for Senior's Week, sponsored by the Southern Grampian Shire Council. It was a cheerful gathering with many great conversations happening around and across the tables among the locals and visitors.

On the right (standing), Margie Eales, President, Penshurst Senior Citizens, with Eda Williamson, Community Engagement Coordinator, and Jane Coshutt, Community Development Coordinator, SGSC.

Community Meeting to follow - Supper Room, Penshurst Hall

Good afternoon everyone,

I'm very pleased to announce that on Wednesday, when this newsletter comes out, the locks on the doors at the Hall will have been replaced with those that are legally required. In the meantime, there's another couple of window panes to be replaced thanks to the rocks flying around from the mowing. This is an ongoing problem even with the wire screens over the windows. We hope the panes will be replaced before the Dance on the 5th.

Last week 1) the Men's Shed received a 'new' refrigerator from the SGSC, and 2) the Historical Society is getting a computer, monitor and keyboard from them as well. The SGSC also sponsored the Senior's Week celebration at the Senior Citizens clubhouse in Bell Street. Turns out you are considered a senior at 55 .. so if you have not visited lately, or ever, drop by and say hello. Their opening times are on our Monthly Meeting page (18).

There are new residents and new activities around the town, such as Jacqui's Coffee morning and the Dawn Buster Silent Walks (see the ad on page 4). The CFA has assessed the Hall as a suitable place to become the Bushfire Place of Last Resort (we are hoping to have that report at the next BPLR meeting - the Council should have it by now.) Spring may not have sprung too far with all this rain, but the sunshine is getting brighter and it was Halloween on Monday. Where has the year gone?

What does the Progress Association actually do?

This is the $64 question. When I first joined up I couldn't actually work it out, but now, after four years at the helm, we cover a lot of ground and are part of the Council's process of taking care of the town. To start with, we are the contact point for the Council with the town. We host town events, eg the Christmas Party and Australia Day. Then there's the Council meetings, such as the Listening Posts, where we attempt to get the Council to understand the town's wishes in contrast to their own. We report problems that are shared with us, or observed, such as the lack of maintenance lately, for various reasons, some of them good. As an NFP we apply for grants for things that the town wants, such as the solar sails over the kid's playground (no luck this time, but we'll be doing that one again asap). We also auspice grants for groups who are not NFPs. We are a group that focuses on the town as a whole, while working on specific projects, such as the Hall's desire to become the BPLR, and the Napier Waller Green Space that is still ticking along slowly. We also host the town newsletter. We support other groups in their projects. That's just some of it. I had a longer list when I was waltzing the little green bin out to the footpath for collection, but lost it on the way back into the house (grr).

Why do I write this - because our AGM is upon us in a few weeks and we would love to have new people who want to be part of the future direction of our town. Do you have time for one meeting a month to share your thoughts?

Historical Society member gains recognition

The Mt Rouse and District Historical Society will honour one of its most productive and valued members over the past 15 years.

The society has decided to honour long time researcher, archivist and secretary, Val Heffernan, by naming one of its research rooms after her.

A public ceremony honouring Val and her tremendous work will be held at the Peshurst Courthouse this Saturday at 10.30am.

A former historical society president, Brian O'Brien, said the amount of work Val had done for the society couldn't be calculated.

"I remember telling her about 15 years ago that we had a mass of material at the Courthouse but it was all over the place, in boxes, under benches, and needed to be sorted and catalogued," Mr O'Brien said

"Val lived in Hamilton and was a member of the Hamilton History Centre, so I thought it was highly unlikely she would be interested in Peshurst history.

"I am glad to say I was wrong. Val and a friend, Margaret Gardner, came out and started the work of sorting huge amounts of historical material. I think it took two or three years to get everything catalogued and into the great shape that it is today. People with historical queries can get them accessed so much easier now - and that is primarily due to the efforts of Val and Margaret a decade ago.

"She later went onto be the society's secretary for many years, aiding the society once again in an important role. I am delighted to see that her tremendous work for our local historical society has been honoured by naming a research room after her."

SOUTHERN GRAMPPIANS SHIRE COUNCIL

27 OCTOBER 2022

NEW MAYOR AND DEPUTY MAYOR ELECTED

Southern Grampians Shire Council elected Cr David Robertson as Mayor and Cr Helen Henry as Deputy Mayor for 2022/23 at last night's Statutory Meeting. Cr Robertson, who was elected unopposed, acknowledged the privilege and honour it is to be elected Mayor of the Southern Grampians.

"Firstly I would like to thank my fellow Councillors for their support in nominating myself to the role of Mayor," said Cr Robertson. "I really see Council as a service industry where we are here to serve our residents and ratepayers well."

Cr Robertson also acknowledged the tight economic landscape Council must continue to navigate to deliver on key projects for the community.

"As a Council, we are full of conceptual ideas and detailed plans which we will have shovel ready so when the scarce resources and opportunities come through, our Council will be prepared.

"We will continue to pressure Governments and we will continue to get jobs done for the people of the Southern Grampians. We are all in this together and as Mayor, my door is always open so please come and see me. I also have to commend Cr Bruach Colliton on his leadership, direction and commitment over the past two years as Mayor. We have achieved many accomplishments under his guidance which puts us in a good place to continue that work into our third and fourth year as a Council," concluded Cr Robertson.

Deputy Mayor Cr Henry was elected unopposed with Council resolving to appoint the Mayor and Deputy Mayor for a one year term. The Council meeting schedule was also set for the second Wednesday of each month except January 2023, commencing at 5:30pm with next year's Statutory Meeting scheduled for 1 November 2023.

We're installing Australia's largest floating solar array

Warrnambool's Brierly Basin will soon host Australia's largest floating solar array as part of our plan to reduce carbon emissions to net zero by 2030, helping the environment and keeping bills low for customers.

The $1.4 million project is expected to have a net-positive value of more than $500,000 by significantly reducing power costs and saving more than 600 tonnes of greenhouse gas emissions each year.

Caramut and District Garden Club

Why does grass grow where you do not want it and not grow where you do?

With all the rain we have been having since the flooding rains of Friday 22nd, the weeds are having a ball. To weed at present, even if not raining, one would become very wet from the surrounding wet plants. Feet would become very bogged. Most plants that stand in wet soil for too long will eventually rot. I was able to collect suitable potting material from the drive after the water subsided.

Geraniums and Pelargoniums come mostly from South Africa. Zonal geraniums flower almost continuously while Regal Pelargoniums rival azaleas for beauty and need much less water. Ivy leafed geraniums will cascade down a bank, or, if supported, climb a wall flowering from spring to autumn. While scented leafed geraniums with their abundance of foliage are suitable for pot-pourri or bath bags. I love touching them in the garden for the delightful perfume when the leaves are rubbed. There are also miniature varieties. Colours range from pure white through shades of pink and lavender to red and there are a number of with attractive variegated foliage. They are hardy plants that tolerate sun and drought and require good drainage although they will look and do better with regular watering.

I first grew them along the west side of the house before the garden was established. By regular tidying up in winter, they remained nice and compact, with abundant flowers. If left to their own devices, geraniums become long and leggy and their flowers very small. Most unattractive. Unfortunately the shrubs planted further out, bringing lovely shade to the house stopped the geraniums from flowering well. Geraniums don't really like much frost, but so long as you only trim them up after the winter, will not be killed by the frost. Dwarf and compact varieties are ideally suited to pots. Ivy leaf varieties have a climbing or trailing habit, which are ideal for hanging baskets. I have an ivy leaf, small flowered one growing in a very large pot on a raised bench which does very well. Even better when I remember to water it in the summer.

Unfortunately, due to the flooding, or at least, water logged Hamilton Gardens, the meeting on Tuesday 8th November which was to visit two gardens in Hamilton has been called off. But you can visit the Green Hills Open Garden on Sunday 13th November 11.00am- 4.00pm. This is a fund raiser for the Penshurst Hospital in memory of Kit Boyd who was a Garden Club member. Due to rain, this was postponed from 30th October.

End of an era in Peshurst

The former RSL building went under the hammer last weekend, drawing over thirty observers, including some who placed bids. The person who won the brief auction paid $275,000 for the two acre block. The funds will benefit the Victorian RSL's continuing effort to be of assistance to veterans and their families. While some regret the money did not stay in Peshurst, at least we know it's gone to an important cause.

previous page.COMMUNITY LOCAL LAW READY FOR RESIDENT FEEDBACK

Residents are encouraged to provide feedback on the draft 2022 Community Local Law after Council made revisions on the 2021 version to improve overall clarity. The document, which outlines Southern Grampians Shire Council Community Local Law, is put in place to protect the amenity of the municipality and the health and safety of the community. Southern Grampians Shire Council Mayor Cr David Robertson said the Community Local Law document has been updated with a number of amendments which will enable officers to improve definitions of existing laws and leave less room for ambiguity. “The Community Local Law is an important document as it helps our officers to create an environment that is equitable and fair to residents, businesses and visitors alike, enabling them to participate in community life with mutual respect for people and places,” said Cr Robertson. “One of the changes from the 2015 Community Local Law will assist Council Officers to ensure property owners maintain the appearance of residences giving authorised staff the ability to address those dilapidated buildings for both private residences and businesses across the region. We will also be looking at implementing a cat curfew in coming years which will help to address the large feral cat population currently within some areas of the Shire. If adopted, Cat owners will be required to confine their animal to their property between sunset and sunrise to help reduce the destruction of native animal populations. This measure is not unique as is already being successfully implemented in other municipalities across the State. The infringement penalties have also been updated in line with the Attorney-General’s guidance and we have removed the reference to Lake Hamilton and activities on waterways to ensure there is no duplication of provisions and offences under the Marine Safety Act 2010.”

The 2022 Community Local Law will also feature:

- The introduction of permits for the planting of vegetation along roads (including nature strips);
- Permits for scavenging at Council Transfer stations to improve safety of residents;
- Regulation of feeding uncaged birds and animals on public and private property to reduce problematic animals.

“For those of you who are viewing this document for the first time, or for those who may have submitted earlier suggestions, have a read through the draft document and tell us what you think,” concluded Cr Robertson.

Residents can review the draft Community Local Law and provide their feedback at www.sthgrampians.vic.gov.au/haveyoursay. Hardcopy feedback can be addressed to:

Fun for the kids

The rules are as follows:

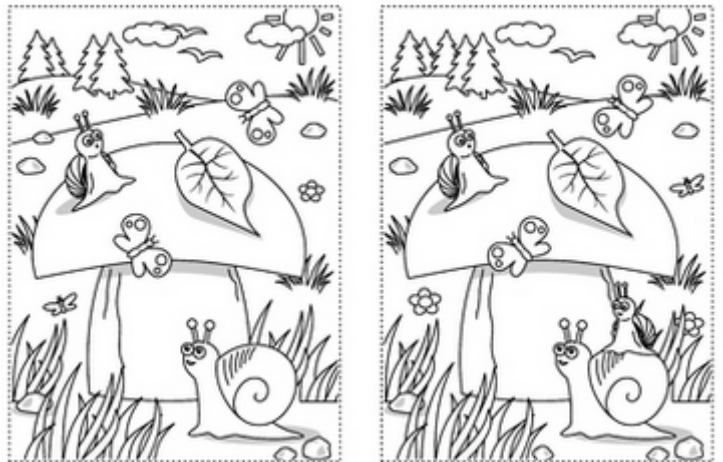

1. The numbers you can use are from 1 to 6.
2. In each row and in each column each number can appear only once (just like in Sudoku).
3. Each "cage" (the blocks with the thick border) shows a result and an operation (addition: +, subtraction: -, multiplication: x, or division: /). The operation applied to the numbers in the cage should produce the result shown.
4. A number may be used more than once in the same cage, but not more than once in each row or column.

In case of subtraction or division, arrange the numbers from the cage from largest to smallest. If the outcome = 1- and the numbers in the cage are 1, 2, 4 then you need to arrange them into 4 - 2 - 1.

Magic Square - Rules

You have to write in every square a unique number. For a 3 x 3 grid you must use the numbers from 1 to 9. The sum of the numbers in the rows, columns and the diagonal must be the same as the numbers are printed around the puzzle. Remember you can only use every number once in the puzzle.

Find the ten differences between the two pictures.

Space - the final frontier.

One of the smashingly good things about going to a different country is that it makes you appreciate your own backyard with greater glee than ever before. One of the things that Manhattan taught me was how lucky we are to have so much space around us. We may not think of it much, but boy oh boy, it sure struck home when you go to live in New York for a couple of weeks.

Jack and David live in what we would call a 'cosy' apartment. A very skinny galley kitchen, one lounge room smaller than the lady chapel, a bathroom which just fits in the necessary and nothing else and a bedroom. In New York terms, it's positively palatial.

Why, because there is only a crushingly limited amount of space.

So all the buildings just go up. Selling 'air rights' above your church building is a real thing and worth big socks of American dollars to parishes there.

My son in law David works on the 67th floor of a building and the highest we ever went up to was the 105th floor of a building. The view was astonishing and unforgettable, but it did make me think. The next time I tootled along a Western district road I could not help but feel how lucky we are to have all this space around us. We might see it all day, every day and so have come to take it for granted, but please dear reader never forget how fortunate we are to live where we do and in such a scenic part of the world.

Pasta with Mint and Parmesan

Prep Time 20 mins Cooking Time 20 mins Serves 3 - 4

INGREDIENTS

- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 500g cut pasta, like ziti or penne, or long pasta, like linguine or spaghetti
- 100g butter (4 tablespoons), cut into pieces
- ½ cup chopped mint leaves
- 1 cup freshly grated Parmesan

METHOD

Step 1

Bring a large pot of water to a boil and salt it. When it boils, cook pasta until it is tender but not mushy. Drain pasta, reserving about ½ cup of cooking liquid.

Step 2

Toss pasta in a warmed bowl with 2 or 3 tablespoons cooking liquid, the butter, mint and half the cheese. Taste and adjust seasoning, then serve, passing remaining Parmesan at the table.

Enjoy!

Can olive oil be used instead of butter? The chef's answer is that you can, but you will completely change the nature of the dish; it won't be bad, but it won't be as good. Better, he thinks, to cut the butter back to two tablespoons. But because this sauce is cut with the pasta cooking water, the butter is spread nicely throughout, and it really isn't a huge amount per person.

Answers to Riddles: 1) "Yeah", the other cow says. "Makes me glad I'm a penguin".
 2) Because every play has a cast. 3) He just needed a little space. 4) Because they make up everything. 5) The satisfactory. 6) They always take things literally. 7) A cat has claws at the end of paws; A comma is a pause at the end of a clause. 8) "Curses! Foil again!"
